Rings, watches-both pendant and wrist; bar-pins, bow-knots and a tew

It is a small but rare collection. Each piece is superbly mounted in platinum.

The important diamonds in each piece are the highest grade flawless Wesseltons, while the melee is the finest white quality. The diamonds were imported and mounted by a designer and skilled craftsman who was brought to this country by one of New York's leading jewelers. Later going into business for himself he encountered extraordinary conditions in the trade, involving higher costs for labor as well as money; and he decided to withdraw from the business. To settle everything quickly, his small but selected stock was
